The Navigators

The Lausanne Movement serves the global body of Christ as a catalyst for world evangelization by:

- Investing in the lives of Christian leaders around the world who are “reflective practitioners”, including younger leaders, leaders who are women, oral preference leaders and non-Internet connected leaders;
- Connecting and convening global Christian leaders for focused discussion, prayer and strategic action related to the issues before the Church and God's world; and
- Communicating ideas, strategy and action on important mission and evangelization topics.

VISION

“The Whole Church taking the Whole Gospel to the Whole World”

VALUES

Steadfast commitment to the ideals of the spirit of Lausanne:

- Humility and integrity in service
- Dedication to prayer
- Faithful study of God's Word
- Emphasizing unity and partnership
- Sharing the hope of the gospel

MOVING FORWARD

Using The Cape Town Commitment (CTC) as the guide for the coming decade, Lausanne will focus its efforts on the integral mission of the Church. Central to that effort are the following:

- Connecting: *linking like-minded leaders
 - Developing a unified database for partnership and collaboration
- Convening: *bringing thoughtful leaders together
 - Providing a place for leaders to thoughtfully and constructively engage in praying, planning and working together to further the kingdom of God by pursuing the issues in the CTC
 - Calling leaders together in regional/issue-based consultations
- Communicating: *providing timely, relevant information
 - Lausanne Global Analysis
 - Lausanne Regional Communications Managers
 - Websites including Lausanne.org and Lausanne.org/conversation
 - Publications (from Cape Town 2010 and future consultations)
- Catalyzing: *moving from talk to action
 - Leadership reorganization
 - Cape Town Commitment curriculum
 - Younger Leaders meetings
 - “Davos-like” meetings of global evangelical leaders

Lausanne Movement International Deputy Director Regions

At the 2004 Forum for World Evangelization, Lausanne regionalized the work of the Movement by appointing International Deputy Directors (IDDs). International Director, Lindsay Brown, gives leadership to the IDD's who have responsibility for their regions and seek to bring leadership, vision, networking and general oversight with regard to world evangelization. The IDD's are volunteers and have a primary ministry alongside of Lausanne responsibilities:

Caribbean – Las Newman (29 Countries), President of Caribbean Graduate School of Theology in Kingston, Jamaica.

EPSA – Nana Yaw Offei Awuku (27 English, Portuguese and Spanish speaking Countries in Africa), Senior Management Team member with Scripture Union in Ghana.

Eurasia – Anatole Glukhovski (12 Countries), President of Ukrainian Evangelical Theological Seminary in Kiev, Ukraine.

Europe – Currently Vacant (44 Countries)

Francophone Africa – Emmanuel Ndikumana (24 Countries), Training Secretary for Partners Trust International.

Latin America – Marcos Amado (20 Countries), Missions Pastor at Morumbi Baptist Church and starting a Missiological Centre in São Paulo, Brazil.

MENA – Andrea Zaki (18 Countries in the Middle East and North Africa), respected senior leader in the region.

North America – Tom Lin (Canada and USA), Vice President of Missions at InterVarsity and Director of the Urbana Student Missions Conference.

North East Asia – David Ro (6 Countries), involved with urban church planting and leadership training in East Asia.

South Asia – Ivan Satyavrata (9 Countries), Senior Pastor and Chairman of the AG Church and Mission in Kolkata, India.

South East Asia – Philip Chang (10 Countries), Chairman of Interserve Malaysia.

South Pacific – Daniel Willis (29 Countries), involved in pastoral ministry for the past 27 years.

“I believe The Lausanne Movement is one of the most strategic ministries in the world – offering an accurate picture of global realities, influencing the future of the global church, and connecting those who are most passionate for God’s mission around the world. “

Tom Lin, Lausanne Movement IDD for North America
