2. List significant disagreements.
   a. There is no clear definition of what prayer is.
   b. According to the text we cannot say that prayer has absolute priority in the life of Jesus.

3. Compile a list of major questions being asked inside and outside the church related to this subject. Seek between five and fifteen questions most encountered and put them in order of relative importance.
   a. If Jesus was God why did he pray? To whom and for whom did he pray?

   c. What is the relationship between prayer and fasting?

4. Compile answers to major questions being asked.
   There are various aspects of influencing God in our prayers. It seems that prayer might be used to change God’s decision. We have the following examples in Scripture:
   a. Unjust judge (Luke 18:1-5)
   b. Importunate friend (Luke 11:5)
   c. Abraham’s prayer for Sodom (Genesis 18:23-33)

   The fact that we are children of God and we can ask the Father to change his mind was not the opinion of the whole group but of some individuals. The paper had stressed the opposite.

   Answer to question 3b
   If we ask it, if we begin to pray for it, we receive the answer (II Sam. 12:22).

   If we are the temple of the Holy Spirit we do not need to ask ourselves if the thing we are praying is according to the will of God. It will be revealed to us as we pray (Rom. 8:26-27). In that sense we are in a situation which is quite different from that of David.

   Answer to question 3c
   Biblical teaching regarding fasting, Acts 13:1-3, indicates that in the early Church fasting was part of the ministry and was especially employed with prayer and sending out of missionaries (Matt. 17:21).
   Another example of fasting is Jesus who fasted for forty days in the wilderness.

   Paul’s example can be found in II Cor. 11:27.

   Answer to question 3d
   We should pray till the Lord fulfills his promise and meets the need. The Lord can give us the assurance of the fulfillment of his promise (I John 5:14-15).
   Matt. 9:37-38 seeing the great need and possibilities in the world (Whitefield) and the lack of workers the Lord commands us to pray for laborers in the harvest.

   Answer to question 3e
   To pray without ceasing is only possible when prayer becomes an attitude, not just conversation.

5. Draw up a list of specific attitudes and activities which seem to be necessary as an outgrowth of this theological position, showing the theological support for listing each item.
